

The background of the slide is the European Union flag, featuring a blue field with twelve yellow five-pointed stars arranged in a circle. The flag is slightly blurred and has a subtle wave pattern.

Example for Civil Society engagement in EUSDR

Irene Lucius, WWF Danube-Carpathian
Programme and DSTF Executive
Committee member

Vienna, 5 March 2019

Meeting with DG REGIO on 19 Nov 2018

Objectives:

Exchange ideas on and discuss how to overcome marginalized position of civil society in the EUSDR and its implementation (as well as in other MRS) by

- anchoring civil society participation in EUSDR governance structures
- improve EUSDR communication and popularity by adopting a modern Communication Strategy
- opening the EUSDR fora to active civil society participation,
- organize platforms for interaction of civil society actors at various levels (e.g. Participation Days)
- micro-funding, easy to access and easy to administer

Participants:

- DG REGIO: Jean-Pierre Halkin, Csaba Hende, Roland Mayer-Frei
 - CSOs: Stefan Lütgenau (Foster Europe and DCSF), Iva Taralezhova (Citizen Participation Forum and DCSF), Irene Lucius (WWF and DCSF), Miklos Barabas (European House and Danubiana Network), Assya Kavrakova (ECAS)
-

Main CSO speaking points

- Civil society and DG REGIO (EUSDR) share the same goals of better governance, better spending and bringing EU closer to citizens;
 - MRS follow by definition the multi-level governance concept and have to be designed and implemented in an inclusive, participative approach build on the EU principles of Subsidiarity and Participation
 - Active civil society participation can bring the EUSDR closer to people, develop ownership, making its value more tangible for citizens.
 - CSOs are challenged by the phenomenon of shrinking civic space in many if not most EUSDR countries – their access to (EU) funding, justice and media has been continuously decreased over the past couple of years; EU funding is difficult to access for small CSOs because of pre-financing and co-funding needs (with in kind contribution rarely eligible); only some countries have CSO funding programmes and the tradition of supporting CSOs through donations is only slowly growing; many of CSO had to close down because of this; EUSDR and MRS as a whole can be an instrument to counteract this worrying trend.
-

Main CSO speaking points

- Danube Participation Day in Sofia called for a) communication efforts to make the EUSDR better known among citizens; b) the need for small grants for CSO; c) the need of a more structured CSO involvement in EUSDR evaluation and planning
 - so far, CSO participation in EUSDR bodies is ad hoc, non-transparent, and inconsistent. CSOs invite DG REGIO to communicate good practice in CSO participation and provide guidance on how to involve CSOs in the main bodies and fora of the EUSDR,
 - Digitalization can make participation easier and effective Digital platforms can enhance participation of citizens and CSOs at low cost.
 - In particular young people need to be mobilized for active participation
 - The MRS reports issued every second year are a prime opportunity for highlighting / evaluating CSO participation or a lack of it
 - Opportunity of European Solidarity Corps
-

DG REGIO response

- Multilevel governance enshrined in DG REGIO but direct interaction of DG REGIO with civil society rather rare
- MRS are owned by governments; DG REGIO is playing role of strategic advisor, not decision maker;
- Regional Policy will receive less funding in the next EU budget, but higher budget allocation for capacity building; CSO have influence in EP
- CSOs are diverse but in critical situations need to speak with one voice if they want to have impact,
- When advocating for better regulations, make implementation simple
- There is a general openness for stronger CSO participation but the issue is “context sensitive”; progress can only be incremental
- Recommendation to team up with other players such as business,
- A call for a new EUSDR Communication Strategy should be addressed to the DSP
- Readiness to follow-up the discussion with CSOs