Project description

EIT Raw Materials has the ambitious vision of turning the challenge of raw materials' dependence into a strategic strength for Europe. Its mission is to boost the competitiveness, growth and attractiveness of the European raw-materials sector via radical innovation and entrepreneurship. This KIC will integrate multiple disciplines, diversity and complementarity along the three sides of the knowledge triangle (business, education, research) and across the whole raw materials value chain.

Project goal

- Set up a network of partners from the ESEE (East and Southeast Europe) Region to face the challenges of the raw materials sector
- Provide solutions in terms of political and economical viewpoints

Beneficiaries and target groups

All institutions in the ESEE Region involved in non-energetic raw-material sectors, as well as universities and authorities
