Digitalisation in Cities and Municipalities

Digitalisation is currently one of the main topics in the municipal world. But smart public authorities are much more than the efficient digital communication and administration. It affects all areas of urban- and regional development. With this webinar we want to give an insight into current European initiatives, present some good practice examples and give an overview of the funding landscape. Above all, however, we want to do one thing: make smaller cities and municipalities less afraid of initiating innovative and smart projects.
